What Is a Dormant Bank Account?

A dormant bank account is one that has had no customer-initiated transactions—such as deposits, withdrawals, or account activity—for a specified period, typically ranging from 6 months to 2 years, depending on jurisdiction and bank policies. Such accounts often fall into a state of inactivity, leading banks to classify them as dormant or inactive to comply with regulatory norms and internal risk management protocols.

Causes of Dormancy

Several factors can lead to an account becoming dormant:

- Extended periods of inactivity: Customers may forget about the account, or no transactions occur over a long duration.
- Business closure or restructuring: Companies might cease operations temporarily or change banking arrangements.
- Change of contact details: Outdated contact information can prevent communication regarding account activity.
- Regulatory or compliance issues: Banks may classify accounts as dormant if suspicious activity is detected or if legal requirements are not met.

Implications of Dormancy

A dormant account can pose several issues:

- Regulatory compliance concerns: Banks are mandated to report and manage dormant accounts appropriately under AML (Anti-Money Laundering) and KYC (Know Your Customer) norms.

- Customer accessibility: The account holder may be unaware of its status, risking missed opportunities or potential misuse.
- Bank's liability: Unclaimed funds in dormant accounts may need to be transferred to government authorities after prescribed periods.

Understanding the Significance of Signatory Change Applications

What Is a Signatory Change Application?

A signatory change application is a formal request submitted by a bank account holder to the bank, instructing it to update or modify the authorized individuals who can execute transactions on the account. This document is essential for maintaining the security and integrity of banking operations, ensuring that only authorized personnel can access funds or perform banking activities.

Reasons for Changing Signatories

Organizations may need to update signatories for various reasons:

- Personnel Turnover: When employees responsible for banking transactions leave or are replaced.
- Organizational Restructuring: Changes in company leadership, such as appointing new directors or managers.

- Additional Signatories: To authorize new personnel to sign on behalf of the company.
- Revocation of Authority: Removing previously authorized signatories due to misconduct or other issues.
- Legal Compliance: Ensuring adherence to statutory requirements or internal policies.

Legal and Security Implications

Updating signatories is not merely procedural but also bears legal significance. It ensures that only duly authorized individuals can perform banking transactions, thus safeguarding assets and preventing fraud.
