What is a Novella?

A novella is a narrative work that is longer than a short story but shorter than a novel, typically ranging from 20,000 to 50,000 words. Known for its concise storytelling, novellas often focus on a specific incident, character, or theme, allowing for deep exploration without the expansive scope of a full-length novel. Classic examples include Franz Kafka's "The Metamorphosis" and John Steinbeck's "Of Mice and Men." They serve as a vital form for authors to experiment with narrative techniques and thematic depth within a compact structure.

The Significance of "Group Fifteen"

"Group Fifteen" appears to be a thematic or organizational reference, possibly indicating a collective or thematic cluster within a larger literary universe. In some contexts, groups like these are used to categorize authors, themes, or story arcs that share common characteristics. The number fifteen could denote a specific set or series, perhaps pointing to fifteen interconnected stories, characters, or thematic elements that are explored collectively.

The Role of Witnessing in Literature

The term "witness" in literary contexts often signifies a character or narrator who bears witness to events, serving as a conduit for truth, memory, or moral judgment. Witness narratives are powerful because they provide firsthand accounts, heightening emotional engagement and authenticity.
